

SUMMER 2021

TEACHER INSTITUTE

Making Connections: Creativity and Culture in the Classroom
June 21 - 25, 2021

Instructor: Drew Williams

Drew Williams is an Instructional Coach at Lone Star Middle School in the Nampa School District and has worked in education for more than ten years. Her teaching experiences include art, digital photography and yearbook. Drew has a master's degree in art education from Boise State University. Prior to teaching middle school, Drew was the Associate Curator of Education at Boise Art Museum. She is passionate about creative, personalized, and accessible learning experiences.

NEW EXHIBITIONS, EXPERIENCES, AND PROJECTS

"The sharing among all the teachers, regardless of school or class subject or age group is inspiring and absolutely invaluable to me for ideas!"

"All teachers should have these experiences and share them with their students!"

The World Stage: Contemporary Art from the Collections of Jordan D. Schnitzer and His Family Foundation

The mission of Boise Art Museum is to create visual art experiences that engage people and inspire learning through exceptional exhibitions, collections, and educational opportunities.

BAM is accredited by the American Alliance of Museums.

BAM | BOISE ART MUSEUM

2021 SUMMER TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

BAM's Summer Teacher Institutes focus on integrating art into classroom curricula, building teacher knowledge and skills in the studio, and experimenting with hands-on, learner-centered facilitation. Investigate artwork in the Museum, create art, and collaborate with teachers across subject and grade levels. Design projects and materials for use in your own teaching environment inspired by BAM's current exhibitions. Participants can anticipate daily art-making projects and gallery activities at BAM, paired with articles, videos, and individual projects to be completed at home.

Register for two optional Boise State or Northwest Nazarene professional development credits.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE IS TWO WEEKS PRIOR TO START DATE. Classes fill quickly.

Making Connections: Creativity and Culture in the Classroom

June 21-25, 2021

Art can cultivate a creative classroom environment and help students make connections between subjects and the world around them. Participants will consider cross-curricular relationships and global perspectives through engaging gallery activities and artmaking. Leave with hands-on experience, relevant takeaways, and new ideas to refresh your instructional practice. Participants will view and create artwork inspired by BAM's Permanent Collection and current exhibitions The World Stage, lo Palmer: Desired Interruptions, and more

Monday-Friday | 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. (hybrid course | a.m. at BAM, p.m. remote)

Cost: $95 (includes supplies)

Instructor: Drew Williams

For your safety, masks are required at BAM, and physical distancing will be practiced.

REGISTRATION FORM

Complete the registration form and enclose a check (if applicable) payable to the Boise Art Museum. Or register online at www.boiseartmuseum.org/teacher-professional-development/. Registration is final. No refunds will be granted unless the class is canceled due to local, state, or national closure requirements. For more information, contact Mackenzie Buie, Administrative Assistant, at 208-345-8330 ext. 110.

Class Making Connections: Creativity and Culture in the Classroom Fee $95.00

Payment: check enclosed MasterCard Visa

Exp.(mo/yr) _____ / _____ Card # _____

Signature _____

Full Name _____

Instructional Level(s) _____ Subject(s) _____

School Name _____ City _____

Personal Mailing Address (where will you be receiving mail this summer): _____

City _____ State _____

Zip Code _____

Phone _____ Email _____

Photo Release: I agree to allow photographs taken of me during my participation in BAM classes to be published in Museum publications. Initial here:

